THE TRAVEL

We will bring you in Italy to discover two of the most famous cities in the world: Rome and Venice.

The first one, the Italian capital city, offers us many architectural and historical masterpieces, legacy of the ancient Roman Empire: Colosseo, Circo Massimo and the Pantheon are just a few examples of what we can find walking along the streets in the "Eternal City". Enclaved within the city tissue, it is also possible to visit Vatican City, head of the Roman Catholic Church ruled by Pope Francis. This country hosts some of the most important places of faith in the world for all Catholicism practitioners.

On the other hand, we have Venice, so different in its own uniqueness from any other city. This city was founded on the sea surface during the 6th-century in order to escape from the barbaric invasions that were common in that historical period. Venice has the power to carry you into a magical atmosphere: the absence of any car, the "gondolas" moving fast between the water canals, the sea and concrete fusion and its majestic building floating unnaturally on the sea, can give us the impression of being suspended in a fairy tale we've all read in our childhood. New Year's Eve livens up Venice; celebrations run across the narrow streets and the fireworks shot from Piazza San Marco illuminate the water surface with a thousand colours in an amazing show. Spending New Year's Eve in Venice is a unique experience that everyone should try once in a lifetime.
